RELATED SAINTS

• Our Lady of Lourdes: Patron saint of bodily ills. St. John Paul II celebrated the first World Day of the Sick, declaring that it would be celebrated each year on the feast of Our Lady of Lourdes. In the Litany of the Blessed Virgin Mary, one of the titles by which Our Lady is referred to is “Comfort of the afflicted.”

• St. Joseph, Husband of Mary: Patron saint of a happy, holy death. Those who are dying have been entrusted to St. Joseph, “since pious tradition holds that he was assisted by Mary and Jesus in his last agony.”

In “Maggie’s Story: Living Like Dad,” Maggie reflected upon accompanying her father in his final days as she faced her own terminal illness years later.

- “Watching anyone suffer, especially a loved one, is one of the hardest human experiences. ... Looking back, I’m convinced that walking through those moments with Dad made both of us different and better people. God loved us enough to allow those moments—even and especially moments of suffering—in order to teach us lessons which helped us to grow spiritually and emotionally. Dad left a legacy. He taught me how to live and die with faith and with dignity marked by patience and grace. He taught me that dignity can’t be diminished by pain or loss of personal control. Regardless of our circumstances and whether people acknowledge it, nothing and no one can take away our God-given dignity.”

- “At first it was awkward trying to converse with a father I only knew as ‘Dad,’ the guy who loaned me the car keys in high school and made sure I could balance my checkbook in college. But eventually, the conversation turned to life’s more significant topics. This was new, but refreshing, and it soon became a time that our family cherished. I learned more about my dad in those last five months than I had ever known. At one point he even remarked how great it was to have the time to just talk together.”

DID YOU KNOW?

- The worst suffering of seriously ill people “is often not physical pain, which can be alleviated with competent medical care, but feelings of isolation and hopelessness.”

- “Hospice care focuses on alleviating pain and other symptoms, meeting basic needs, and providing comfort.”
