

A Catholic Campaign Against Global Poverty:

Trade • Aid • Debt

Why a Catholic Campaign Against Global Poverty?

If a brother or a sister has nothing to wear and has no food for the day, and one of you says to them “go in peace, keep warm and eat well,” but you do not give them the necessities of the body, what good is it? So also faith of itself, if it does not have works, is dead. James 2:15-16

In a world where nearly half of our sisters and brothers live in poverty, how can we say “go in peace” to a Sudanese child who has lost her parents in war? How can we say “keep warm” to an Indonesian brother and sister left homeless in the wake of a tsunami? How can we say “eat well” to a Haitian family struggling to survive in one of the poorest nations on earth? As believers, we cannot. And because disasters and emergencies hit the poor hardest, people of faith are quick to respond generously with food for the hungry, shelter and clothing for the displaced, medical care for the suffering.

But even our generous responses to such disasters are not sufficient to address the pervasive poverty experienced by our brothers and sisters around the world. We must also work against the causes of global poverty and deprivation so that those who are currently poor can live in dignity. This ultimately requires U.S. policies to promote development for impoverished people and to overcome poverty and its devastating effects. And it requires people of faith to call upon our elected officials and policy makers to make genuine human development for the poorest people and nations a top U.S. policy priority.

Join the effort

The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) and Catholic Relief Services (CRS) invite Catholics throughout the U.S. to join us in our Catholic Campaign Against Global Poverty as we advocate for U.S. policies that foster economic and social development for people living in poverty throughout the world.

The campaign focuses on three areas of U.S. economic policy:

- Trade: Shaping U.S. trade policies so that overcoming poverty and promoting human development are central priorities.
- Aid: Supporting effective programs that foster long-term development and empowerment of the poor.
- Debt: Eliminating the debt of the poorest countries in ways that reduce poverty and promote dignity.

Making an option for the poor

This campaign begins with an essential theme of Catholic social teaching: the preferential option for the poor. This teaching is rooted in Jesus’ special concern for the “least” among us. It compels Catholics to ask basic questions of U.S. policy makers: How do our foreign policies affect the world’s poor? Do they alleviate poverty or exacerbate it? Do they foster development or impede it? As citizens in a powerful democracy and affluent nation we have the right to raise these questions. As people of faith we have the responsibility to work for answers that protect the lives and dignity of all God’s children.

Four ways to take action

As followers of Jesus, we want our brothers and sisters throughout the world to “live in peace” and to have at least the basic necessities to live in dignity. Recognizing the gift of God’s Spirit at work in the world, we must do our part by putting our faith to work for effective measures to end the suffering and poverty of our sisters and brothers. As part of the Catholic Campaign Against Global Poverty you can:

1. Pray for people throughout the world seeking to rise from the indignities of poverty...for U.S. policies that can help make it happen...for all who stand in solidarity with the world’s poor.
2. Learn more about Catholic Social Teaching, U.S. economic policies, and the world’s poor.
3. Advocate by contacting your elected officials to make the case for trade, aid and debt policies that overcome poverty and promote development for impoverished people. Ask the question: how will the decisions of U.S. policy makers impact the poor, both in the United States and overseas?
4. Educate people in your parish and community about Catholic Social Teaching, U.S. economic policies and the world’s poor.

Resources to help you in the Campaign Against Global Poverty

Visit the Catholic Campaign Against Global Poverty website at www.usccb.org/globalpoverty or www.catholicrelief.org/globalpoverty for free downloadable resources including:

- Resources for prayer, worship and preaching.
- Educational materials on Catholic teaching, global poverty, and economic policy issues for adults and small faith communities, students and religious education classes, youth groups, young adults, campus ministry programs, and others.
- Stories that illustrate the human face of global poverty.
- Action Alerts to help you advocate on specific policies.

For more information on the Catholic Campaign Against Global Poverty contact:

United States Conference of Catholic Bishops
Social Development and World Peace,
3211 Fourth Street, N.E./ Washington, DC 20017, 202-541-3381

or e-mail jrosenhauer@usccb.org or scolecchi@usccb.org.

Catholic Relief Services
Community Engagement Department,
209 West Fayette Street
Baltimore, MD 21201-3443
800-235-2772, ext 7264

or e-mail advocacy@catholicrelief.org.

