

National Day of Prayer for Peace in Our Communities

History and Background on September 9th National Day of Prayer

In 2016, the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops called for a National Day of Prayer to be observed on September 9th, the Feast of St. Peter Claver. This initiative was introduced as a means to foster open, honest, and respectful dialogue within communities facing heightened tensions and acts of violence.

Why September 9th?

September 9th is the Memorial of St. Peter Claver, who ministered to enslaved Africans. St. Peter Claver was a Jesuit priest from Catalonia who served African slaves in Cartagena, Colombia for 38 years, baptizing over 300,000 people. He died in 1654 and was canonized by Pope Leo XIII in 1888. He called himself “the slave of the slaves forever” and is a patron saint of African Americans and of enslaved peoples. The Feast of St. Peter Claver is an occasion for heightened prayer and action to strive for peace in our communities.

Prayer Accomplishes Wonderful Things

Reflecting on this Day of Prayer for Peace, Bishop Joseph Perry, chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee Against Racism, said: “We Christians believe that prayer accomplishes wonderful things for our families and communities. Prayer is the miracle salve for the ills of individuals as well as communities. The Lord Jesus promises that our prayer is heard by God. Let us never give up on prayer being able to bring us closer to God and to one another.”

“Therefore I tell you, all that you ask for in prayer, believe that you will receive it and it shall be yours.” (Mark 11:24)

“Brothers and sisters, I would like that our first great desire be for a united Church, a sign of unity and communion, which becomes a leaven for a reconciled world. In this our time, we still see too much discord, too many wounds caused by hatred, violence, prejudice, the fear of difference, and an economic paradigm that exploits the Earth’s resources and marginalizes the poorest.”

Tools and Resources

The U.S. Bishops’ Ad Hoc Committee Against Racism offers a range of prayer resources to support Catholics in seeking the conversion of hearts and to address the sin of racism. These materials are designed to guide parishes and individuals in meaningful prayer and reflection, especially on September 9th, the Feast of St. Peter Claver, and throughout the year.

We encourage you to explore and share the Committee’s webpage on the Feast of St. Peter Claver, where you’ll find resources including:
